

Prepaid and certain other mobile service plans incur per-minute and access fees. These services are frequently the only ones available to the indigent and are marketed aggressively to the elderly and the technically unsophisticated, the handicapped and others who are disadvantaged. It is unfair to those individuals to require a fee to access, evaluate, and dispose of unwanted and unwelcome messages.